Deep Dive: Exploring the Deep Sea and our Changing World
Dr. Geoff Dilly, Assistant Professor of Biology

Out of sight, out of mind. This mantra often applies to the deep sea, an environment rarely explored and still mysterious. However, a world we have barely entered is already changing.

Our impact is noticeable—trawling, mining, debris, climate change, and ocean acidification. This talk will explore the habitats of the deep sea, the challenges being faced, the potential solutions, and hope for the future.
